GRADUATE SCHOOL RESOURCES

The Bursar's Office provides information about tuition and fees associated with being a graduate student. Resources to help you afford graduate study might include assistantships, fellowships, traineeships, and financial aid. Further funding information is available from the Graduate School.

Be sure to check with your program for individual policies and restrictions related to funding.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

If you choose to attend UW–Madison and plan to pursue funding on your own, the following sites could be very helpful:

- Graduate School Funding Resources (<https://grad.wisc.edu/studentfunding/prospective/>)
- Graduate School Costs and Funding (<https://grad.wisc.edu/studentfunding/currentstudents/>)

PROGRAM RESOURCES

Students admitted to the graduate program are provided financial support in the form of research assistantships, teaching assistantships, and fellowships. Support is dependent on availability of funds and students maintaining satisfactory progress towards their degree.

For information specific to graduate assistantships within the Department of Industrial and Systems Engineering, please consult the department's graduate program handbook (<https://engineering.wisc.edu/isye-grad-handbook/>).

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

Federal Loans

Students who are U.S. citizens or permanent residents may be eligible to receive some level of funding through the federal direct loan program. These loans are available to qualified graduate students who are taking at least 4 credits during the fall and spring semesters, and 2 credits during summer. Private loans are also available. Learn more about UW–Madison financial aid here. (<https://financialaid.wisc.edu>)

International Student Services Funding and Scholarships
