

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION: MANAGEMENT, BBA

Management studies focus on the activities of leadership, power, decision-making, organizational structure and change, strategy and policy, and the integration of organizational functions. If you aim to be an entrepreneur or advance in a leadership position in a private business, government or nonprofit organization, a BBA in Management is a good fit for you.

Through UW–Madison Online, you'll learn from top faculty in the field. From the highly ranked School of Business, you will gain valuable skills in communication, collaboration, planning, problem solving and building relationships. You will learn to develop successful team structures that maximize performance, design systems to achieve strategic objectives in a global business environment, diagnose problems and design effective interventions, and evaluate an organization to maximize its competitive advantage within an industry.

This degree will prepare you to work for businesses large and small or for yourself as a business owner or entrepreneur. Top industries hiring in this field include finance and insurance, health care and social assistance, professional/scientific/technical services and manufacturing. The BBA in Business Administration: Management, offered fully online, will equip you for a broad array of careers, from business owner to talent acquisition manager or compensation analyst, to name just a few.
