REQUIREMENTS

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION LIBERAL STUDIES REQUIREMENTS

How Students Meet Requirements

All students are required to complete a minimum of 40 credits of liberal studies coursework. Most liberal studies courses are offered by academic departments in the College of Letters & Science. Each course is assigned a number of descriptors (attributes) that provide information about its content. For example, a breadth designation indicates what kind of course it is – a science course, a literature course, etc. Level designations describe how advanced the content of a course is in relation to other courses in the department – elementary, intermediate, or advanced level.

The Liberal Arts and Sciences (LAS) attribute identifies courses that contain liberal arts content. These courses are found in many schools and colleges across the campus, including the School of Education. All courses with the LAS attribute may be selected to meet the liberal studies requirement. These courses, and those on the fine arts list, are the only School of Education courses that will count toward the requirement.

Details about each course, including breadth, level, and LAS status, can be found in Course Search and Enroll (<https://registrar.wisc.edu/course-search-enroll/>). Click on the course number to obtain this information. Students can also search for courses meeting specific breadth, level, credits, and other attributes using Course Search and Enroll (<https://registrar.wisc.edu/course-search-enroll/>). School of Education departments with LAS courses include Art, Counseling Psychology, Curriculum and Instruction, Dance, Educational Leadership and Policy Analysis, Educational Policy Studies, Educational Psychology, Kinesiology, Rehabilitation Psychology and Special Education, and Theatre and Drama.

May also count COM ARTS 181 Elements of Speech-Honors Course, and any English (<https://guide.wisc.edu/courses/engl/>) department intermediate or advanced level creative writing or composition course toward this requirement (ESL classes and elementary level composition courses are excluded).

Social Studies (Social Science)

All students must complete a minimum of 9 credits. Select from courses with a breadth designation of Social Science, Social or Natural Science, Biological or Social Science, or as Humanities or Social Science.

Teacher education and kinesiology students have unique requirements in this category; see below:

Teacher Education requirement

Teacher education students must complete a Local, State, and National Government requirement by enrolling in one of the following courses as part of the 9 credits:

- POLI SCI 104 Introduction to American Politics and Government or
- POLI SCI 205 Introduction to State Government

Kinesiology

Kinesiology students must complete PSYCH 202 Introduction to Psychology as part of the 9 credits.

Science

All students must complete a minimum of 9 credits, including one course designated as a Biological Science course and one designated as a Physical Science course. All students must complete one science course with a laboratory. The lab course can also count toward the Biological or Physical Science requirement if it has the requisite breadth designation.

Biological Science

Any course with a breadth designation of Biological Science, or as Biological or Social Science.

Physical Science

Any course with a breadth designation of Physical Science.

Science Elective(s)

Other courses with a breadth designation of Biological Science, Physical Science, Natural Science, Social or Natural Science, Humanities or Natural Science, or as Biological or Social Science.

Laboratory Requirement

Most sciences with lab sections are identified as such in Course Search and Enroll (<https://registrar.wisc.edu/course-search-enroll/>).

In addition to courses with lab sections, the following courses include some lab experience and will meet the lab requirements for students in the School of Education:

Code	Title	Credits

PL PATH/ BOTANY 123	Plants, Parasites, and People	3

Cultural and Historical Studies

All students must complete three requirements met by separate courses. Any of these courses can also be used to meet the Humanities or Social Studies (Social Sciences) requirements if it has the relevant breadth designation. A single course cannot satisfy more than one of the three Cultural and Historical Studies requirements listed below.

Ethnic Studies (minimum 3 credit course)

The Ethnic Studies requirement is intended to increase understanding of the culture and contributions of persistently marginalized racial or ethnic groups in the United States and to equip students to respond constructively to issues connected with our pluralistic society and global community. Courses that meet this requirement have a specific ethnic studies designation that can be utilized in a course search.

United States or European History (minimum 3 credits)

The courses listed below count toward this requirement. Additional courses can be considered; students may consult with an advisor in the School of Education Student Services office.

Liberal Studies Electives

Complete additional liberal studies coursework as needed to reach the required 40 Liberal Studies credits.

Important Notes Regarding the Liberal Studies Electives

- Completion of the Liberal Studies requirements is not a prerequisite to professional program declaration or admission.
- Whether a course can double count toward liberal studies and major requirements varies by program area and will be reflected in a student's DARS report.
- Courses that transfer to UW–Madison as departmental electives (e.g., POLI SCI X10) might meet specific Liberal Studies requirements. Students may consult with an advisor in the School of Education Student Services office to discuss transfer electives that appear to meet specific course requirements.
- While one course may cover two requirements, students must still complete both the 40-credit total and the 9-credit minimum requirements in Humanities, Social Studies (Social Science), and Science. For example, THEATRE/ENGL 120 Introduction to Theatre and Dramatic Literature, a Literature course also on the Fine Arts list, may be used to meet both the specific Fine Arts and Literature requirements of the Humanities area, but a total of 9 credits of Humanities are still required.
- No liberal studies coursework may be taken on a Pass/Fail basis.

Guidelines for Specific Program Areas
Teacher Education Programs

All teacher education students, except those in art education, may apply any appropriate coursework from the major or minor toward the Liberal Studies requirements. Art education students may apply all of the aesthetics credits (usually 14) toward the Liberal Studies requirements, but not courses taken to meet the studio requirements.

Art (BFA and BS)

In general, students may not satisfy Liberal Studies requirements with courses meeting studio or aesthetics requirements. However, Art–BFA candidates may apply 4 aesthetics elective credits toward the Humanities credits.

Kinesiology and Physical Education

Kinesiology and physical education students will meet the Science requirement by completing their required science courses – e.g., chemistry and physics.

Communication Sciences and Disorders

Communication sciences and disorders students should consult both the Liberal Studies requirements and the communication sciences and disorders program requirements, particularly the "related courses" section, when selecting Liberal Studies coursework. Courses may count in both places. Note: The American Speech–Language–Hearing Association (ASHA) standards now specify that a course in each of the following areas is required for ASHA certification.

- Biological sciences
- Physical sciences (chemistry or physics)
- Statistics
- Social/behavioral sciences

Dance (BFA & BS)

Dance and Dance–BFA students must complete ANAT&PHY 338 Human Anatomy Laboratory, or equivalent, which will meet both a Science requirement and the Science Laboratory requirement. In general, Liberal Studies requirements cannot be met with courses taken to meet other program requirements.

Rehabilitation Psychology

In general, rehabilitation psychology students may not satisfy Liberal Studies requirements with courses taken to meet the Related Course Requirements in Rehabilitation Psychology. Courses applied toward the other parts of the Rehab Psych requirements cannot also count toward the 40 Liberal Studies credits. However, if a course is taken to meet any of the three Cultural/Historical Studies requirements, the course content can be used to meet both requirements, but the credits will only count in the Rehabilitation Psychology or Related Course Requirements areas. Once the required credits have been met, additional coursework in Psychology, Sociology, Social Work, etc. may be applied toward Liberal Studies.

Theatre and Drama

Theatre and drama students can apply major coursework toward the Liberal Studies requirements.
