

COMMUNICATION ARTS, BS

The Communication Arts major offers a liberal arts approach to studying communication. The value of the liberal arts approach is that students not only learn specific skills, they also gain a deep understanding of communication theory, history, research, and criticism. Our students learn to apply communication principles in different contexts and with a variety of different media. As a result, the Communication Arts major prepares students for a wide range of jobs and careers, including those that don't exist yet.

Courses in Communication Arts (https://guide.wisc.edu/courses/com_arts/) deal with a diverse range of communication-related topics and approach them from a variety of theoretical, practical, and aesthetic perspectives. The curriculum is designed to foster an understanding of communication processes, improve communication and digital literacy skills, and develop the capacity for critical appraisal and reflection.

The Communication Arts major has two named options:

- Communication Science and Rhetorical Studies (<https://guide.wisc.edu/undergraduate/letters-science/communication-arts/communication-arts-ba/communication-arts-communication-science-rhetorical-studies-ba/>): explore the social, psychological, and practical aspects of communication and human behavior with a focus on public, mass, online, organizational, group, and interpersonal communication.
- Radio–Television–Film (<https://guide.wisc.edu/undergraduate/letters-science/communication-arts/communication-arts-ba/communication-arts-radio-television-film-ba/>): explore the history, theory, criticism, cultural uses, and production practices of television, film, radio, and digital media.

ADVISING AND CAREERS

ADVISING AND CAREERS DECLARE OR CANCEL THIS MAJOR

Please follow the process described on the Communication Arts website (<https://commarts.wisc.edu/undergraduate/declaring/>).

Non-Letters & Science students will need permission from their school or college to pursue an additional major in Communication Arts.

COMMUNICATION ARTS ACADEMIC ADVISING

Communication Arts academic advisors (<https://commarts.wisc.edu/undergraduate/advising/>) assist students throughout their undergraduate studies.

COMMUNICATION ARTS COURSES

The Communication Arts Department offers a wide array of courses (https://guide.wisc.edu/courses/com_arts/). All the courses listed in the Guide are not offered each semester. Please see Course Search & Enroll (<https://public.enroll.wisc.edu>) for current course offerings.

CAREER EXPLORATION AND PREPARATION Gain Experience

The Department of Communication Arts encourages students to apply the knowledge and skills they attain through coursework to professional settings. Internships and part-time jobs at television networks, nonprofit organizations, talent agencies, magazines, radio stations, advertising agencies, production companies, government agencies, and other communication-related businesses help students gain work-related experience and explore career options.

Communication Arts offers a one-credit, online academic course to accompany a student's internship experience: COM ARTS 614 Field Experience in Communication and COM ARTS 615 Second Field Experience in Communication .

Attend Events

Throughout the academic year, students have the opportunity to participate in several communication-focused, career-related events.

Communication Arts Alumni Careers at a Glance

After completing a Letters & Science bachelor's degree with a Communication Arts major, alumni pursue a variety of careers. In a recent survey, Communication Arts alumni were asked to provide and categorize their occupation. The results are available on the Department of Communication Arts website:

STUDYING ABROAD

Communications Arts student are encouraged to look at study abroad programs (<https://studyabroad.wisc.edu/academics/major-advising-pages-maps/communication-arts/>) and opportunities across the globe. Our students have studied in cities such as London, Rome, Tel Aviv, Prague, Galway, Sydney, Madrid, Bologna, Cape Town, Paris, Copenhagen, and Buenos Aires. When planning for their semester abroad, students should think beyond courses required for their major. Students are encouraged to take courses from a variety of subjects to satisfy requirements and elective credits for their degree.

RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

Communication science research team members gain hands-on research experience. Undergraduate research assistants may learn to code and enter data, interview participants, gather and prepare research materials, run experiments, and perform other activities required to complete a research study. Reading and writing assignments related to the research activities are assigned throughout the semester. Opportunities to participate in a research team vary from semester to semester.
